

Privacy Policy

Our policy is to protect a persons right to privacy by ensuring that any information that can be used to uniquely identify them will be professionally managed.

This will be achieved by providing to the person:

- A request to collect and retain the information.
- The purpose for collection of the information.
- Access to the information.
- A means to correct the information.
- A means to remove the information.